

Author's Note

The Scent of Her Soul is a novel for adults. The story includes sex-trafficking, a scene of brutality, and a smattering of profanity.

Although the content is relatively tame compared to what is readily available elsewhere, as an author of several series for youth, my concern is that this novel might fall into the hands of readers for whom the content is not appropriate.

Therefore, I am publishing this book under B. Allen Davis instead of Bryan Davis. Perhaps this change will be enough to eliminate The Scent of Her Soul from searches for my other books.

I shifted my normal genre and audience hoping that this story will raise awareness of the evils of sex trafficking, inspire people to help those trapped in its clutches, and give aid to those who are out on the streets trying to make a positive difference.
